

SRB Approved for Selected FTS Ratings, NECs

Certain Full Time Support (FTS) personnel are now eligible to receive a Selective Reenlistment Bonus (SRB) for fiscal year '05, according to NAVADMIN 100/05, released May 9.

Consistent with the Navy's Human Capital Strategy, retaining Sailors with critical skills remains a high priority.

Newly-developed

FTS Enlisted Community Management (ECM) tools have identified several FTS ratings and Navy Enlisted Classification codes (NEC) that warrant an SRB in order to maintain proper manning levels and promote desired force shaping.

Multiple options are available for Sailors interested in becoming eligible for an FTS SRB: conversion to an FTS SRB rating, acquisition of an SRB-related NEC, conversion from Regular Navy (USN) status to FTS, or recall from the Selected Reserve (SELRES) to FTS.
